ANNUAL CORAL ACTIVITY DAY

The members of the research group CORAL (Cluster for Operations Research And Logistics) have held their annual activity day away from the daily routines at the office. As usual, the day contained both work related and social aspects.

The day started with short introductions of the group's new PhD students and their research projects.

The main focus of the day was to broaden the group's horizon for future research. With this aim, the AU Research Support Office was invited to give an overview of good funding opportunities within CORAL's field of research. Following this, the group expects an increased number of CORAL applications in the future.

Two other research groups working within fields similar to CORAL's were invited to give a better understanding about their research areas and approaches: The QUANTS group talked about data mining, and the Operations Management unit from the Department of Engineering was invited as they are interested in some areas similar to CORAL, but from a more applied point of view.

After enjoying a nice lunch together, it was time for some team building! Everyone got a laser gun and fought a heroic battle in crossfire. The photo speaks for itself – luckily they are all still alive, and they had great fun. And, as pointed out by one of the fighters: "it somehow feels more natural to approach each other with work related matters after we have covered each other's backs in crossfire".

BACKUP

We all know that it is a good idea to take backup of our files so that they do not get lost in case of a virus attack, hardware failures, your computer gets stolen or other unpleasant incidents. But do you remember to take backup often enough?

To be on the safe side, you should save your data on the M-drive, which is backed up automatically. So the data cannot be lost. USB-sticks, external hard drives etc. should not be considered safe backup methods.

Some of you may have so-called "Redirected Folders" installed on your PC. "Redirected Folders" is a system for Windows which takes backup of the files saved on your computer. This system is on the way out, and when the accounts in the old domains are shut down and moved to the new UNI-domain, the redirected folders will not work anymore. Thus, it is recommended that you always save your files on the M-drive. If in doubt, contact IT Support: bss.it@au.dk.

When you are working from home or elsewhere outside AU's network, you can access the network drive via a VPN connection, which IT support can help establish for you.

The form in the link below allows you to generate an RSS feed consisting of the information you exactly want. You can choose for which locations you want the operating status, the severity of the operating status as well as the specific error types and affected systems you want to subscribe to.

STAFF PORTRAIT

STAFF PORTRAIT: ALLAN SØRENSEN

This time Allan Sørensen has agreed to answer the questions for the staff portrait. Thank you, Allan. Allan is associate professor at the Department and is affiliated with The Tuborg Research Centre for Globalisation and Firms.

How long have you been employed at the Department of Economics and Business Economics?

I have been employed at the department (and some of the previous departments that merged into the current department) since I enrolled as a PhD student back in 2001. In fact, I started working as a TA back in 1999.

What is your background?

I grew up in Silkeborg, or Sejs to be more precise, which is about half-an-hour drive west of Aarhus. After attending the local primary school, I studied at Silkeborg Business College. Subsequently, I enrolled in the economics programme (oecon) at AU. After the first 4 years of study I started as a 4+4 PhD student, and I wrote my thesis on 'Economic Integration, Ageing and Labour Market Outcomes' under supervision of Torben M. Andersen.

What are your main areas of research?

International trade and public finance in open economies.

What research projects are you working on at the moment?

I am currently working on three projects dealing with three different issues: 1) How do firms respond to boycotts in some export markets? 2) The short duration of a large fraction (approx. 50 %) of export episodes. 3) The challenges globalization brings for financing the public sector through taxation of labour.

What are you involved in teaching-wise at the moment?

I am teaching intermediate macroeconomics at HA as well as at the oecon programme this fall. Moreover, I am coordinator for the macro courses at the oecon programme and I have some supervising.

Are you planning to take part in any conferences or the like abroad in the near future?

My calendar does not really allow me to participate in conferences this semester due to double teaching. However, I plan to take part in the annual Aarhus-Kiel workshop on international economics in December.

Are you expecting any visiting researchers from abroad in the near future (or have you had any visitors from abroad recently)?

This semester I have so far had Sanne Hiller (Bochum and previously AU) visiting in September, and Ingo Geishecker (Europa Universität Viadrina) will be visiting in November. They are co-authors on some of my research projects.

Are you cooperating with researchers from other departments at AU at the moment?

No

What do you do when you are not at work?

I have a wife and three kids, which occupies quite a bit of my spare time - although they actually deserve more of my time :-). My surplus at the vipomatic account is certainly larger than my surplus at the family account these years. Moreover, I am coach for my son's football team and member of the board at the local school where my kids are pupils. I also try to get a weekly run and then I take the time to play (oldboys) football myself once a week.

Supplementary question from Marias Halldor Gestsson: How is the beer status at the Tuborg Center?

There are more beers (Tuborg, obviously) in our local inventory ready to put in the fridge whenever the situation calls for it!

Please give us your suggestion for the next department staff member to be presented:

Anders Laugesen

What specific supplementary question would you like him to answer?

Which task is most difficult: a) to build GE-models with heterogeneous agents to analyse effects on industry compositions or b) to buy and renovate an old house?
