NEW PROCEDURES IN CONNECTION WITH EXAMS

- Written exams: prepare two assignments for the ordinary exam

As from the summer exams 2017, the lecturer must always hand in two exam assignments in connection with ordinary written exams; one for the ordinary exam and one for the expected reexamination. This means that the two assignments must be submitted to the programme administrator at the same time.

This is to ensure that an extra assignment is ready for use at the ordinary exam in case the intended assignment turns out to contain errors or irregularities. In addition, having an assignment ready for a possible reexamination allows for an early planning and execution of the reexamination. Read more

Note that the vice dean has announced that Coordinator for BSc/MSc Charlotte Christiansen and Coordinator for HA/cand.merc. Anders Grosen may allow for exceptions in special cases, so that only one exam assignment has to be submitted. But this is only in special cases.

- Oral exams – enter marks on the day of the exam

In connection with oral exams, marks must be entered into WISEflow on the day of the oral exam. This is especially important if the exam is the student's last exam, as it affects the student's eligibility for SU and social benefits.

Some oral exams are still entered into STADS-VIP or use paper protocols – Here it is equally important that the date of the oral exam is entered correctly.

- Students' appendices at FLOWlock exams

In connection with FLOWlock exams, students must use the drawing tool embedded in FLOWlock or the webcam on their pc when submitting appendices with their exam assignment.

This change has its rise in the very positive feedback following a pilot project on FLOWlock in connection with the winter exams, and will become effective as from the summer exams 2017.

UPDATE OF WORD AND POWERPOINT TEMPLATES

On 24 April 2017, your Word and PowerPoint templates will change to a new version. The update takes place automatically on your computer and takes a couple of minutes.

The new template solution, Templafy, is a cloud-based solution that can be accessed at any time via the internet at office.au.dk. The previous Word and PowerPoint templates will be deleted in connection with the change.

You will, however, still be able to access your current PowerPoint presentations as always.

The change means that:

- Your existing PowerPoint presentations remain as they are when you open them after 24 April. You must use the new templates when making new PowerPoint presentations etc.
- Each department will have its own department-specific image bank. Here, you can select images for your new PP presentation.
- In addition, each department will have a department-specific PowerPoint template. Here you can select pre-designed slides for your PP presentation.
- The Dean's Office has decided that all units, with very few exceptions, must use the Aarhus BSS templates.
- The templates can also be used by MAC users.

Instructions on how to get started

- PC: If you are a PC user, you can watch short video presentations \(2 mins\) on how to 1) create and edit your user profile, 2) create a document in Word and 3) create a presentation in PowerPoint.

- Online/Mac users: If you are a MAC user, or if you are downloading the templates via the Internet, you can watch short video presentations \(2 mins\) on how to 1) create and edit your user profile, 2) create a document in Word and 3) create a presentation in PowerPoint.

Support

If you experience any problems with the update on 24 April, Aarhus BSS IT Support is ready to help you. The three short videos contain lots of information about the new templates, so it's a good idea to spend a few minutes watching them before you contact IT Support.

Contact Aarhus BSS IT support by email bss.it@au.dk or by telephone 8715 0933.
