

“Pakkeleg”

Pakkeleg is a game most Danes play during Christmas time, children as well as adults.

WARNING - it brings out the worst in people!

Rules:

Each player brings a small gift and all gifts are placed in the middle of the table.

1st round: Players take turns in rolling the dice and when you roll a 6, you choose a gift. This goes on until all gifts have been taken.

2nd round: The game continues the same way, but now you steal gifts from the other players when you roll a 6, though only for a limited amount of time.

The Christmas Party Committee will set the alarm clock, and when it rings everybody gets to open their gifts.
